PRACTICE

Borislow's in-house Compliance Practice Team is available to help clients sort through the never-ending and ever-changing alphabet soup of health and welfare regulations.

It seems as though regulation and compliance requirements are changing on a daily basis. While it is not really quite that bad, it is often confusing, time consuming, and less than comfortable if you are not solely focused on this aspect of your benefits plans. That is where the Compliance Practice can be a valuable asset for your company.

From our Employee Benefit Compliance Checklist to your customized annual Overview Report, we want you to feel comfortable that we can help you keep on track all year long. Our team is always ready to reach out to us whenever compliance-related issues or questions arise.

As rules, regulations and requirements evolve, Borislow will be there — by your side — to help you navigate and anticipate the impact that these changes will have on your business.

Please contact us to learn more about our Compliance Practice, or any of the other ways we have been helping our clients for over 35 years.
